Introductory

THE CARON DIRECTORY COMPANY herewith presents the twenty-second bi-ennial Directory of the Cities of New Albany and Jeffersonville. Through no fault of the publishers, there has been delay in the publication. In the first place, the Mayor of New Albany requested that inasmuch as the houses in the newly-annexed town of Silver Grove were being renumbered, it would be well to wait to have these numbers, with the names of the occupants, included, and the request was acceded to. The second and most important cause for delay was that on the afternoon of Friday, March 23, 1917, when a terrible tornado swept away several hundred residences and some manufactories in the northeastern section of the city, destroying property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars and at the same time killing or fatally injuring more than two score of men, women and children. In its fury the tornado is said to have been the worst ever experienced in the whole country. This was the most deplorable event in the history of the city. The whole country was appalled and generously responded to the call for aid. The sister city of Louisville, particularly, responded in a way which will serve to bind forever the cordial ties which have long existed between the three Falls Cities. The substantial aid given by its own citizens and by the people elsewhere has enabled the manufactories in the tornado district to rebuild and likewise the residents in the ill-fated districts have been enabled to restore and return to their homes. This calamity caused another delay. The publishers were compelled, at great expense, to make another canvass of the city, and especially of the tornado-stricken district, all of which was done in the interest of accuracy, which is the chief aim of this publication. It was found by the canvassers that few, if any, of the tornado sufferers had moved away permanently. This shows an abiding faith in New Albany on the part of its citizens. The city has survived this great disaster, as is evidenced by the fact that she now has a population of 27,410, an increase of 298 over 1915, when the last canvass was made. This is shown by a careful counting thrice made by our canvassers before and after the tornado. Her property valuation for taxable purposes is $10,308,620, as shown by the returns of the County Auditor, prepared June 14, 1917. Her city tax rate is only $1.25 on the $100 valuation.

The city has shown great progress during the past two years, notably in the matter of the reconstruction of worn-out macadam streets and the building of new ones. It has also aided, under the Three-mile Road Law, the building of many miles of turnpikes in the vicinage of New Albany, for which its taxpayers will have to bear two-thirds of the expense. The most important improvement was that of Market street, one of the principal thoroughfares. This fine, broad street will hereafter be a part of the Dixie Highway. Its wide avenues, originally paved with macadam, are now covered with brick and concrete, the latter form of street affording a smooth and durable as well as a comparatively noiseless driveway. Concrete reconstruction may be tried on many of the other streets in the near future.

All of the manufacturing industries in New Albany are working to their fullest capacity; in fact they have more orders than they can fill, and many have been working their employees overtime. Weekly pay-rolls are the greatest asset of a city. New Albany bids fair to increase its present manufacturing output.

The New Albany Chamber of Commerce, made up of the leading business and professional men of the city, is daily growing in numbers and influence. Much could be said in detail about its activities, but space forbids. Sufficit to say, this Chamber of Commerce is the peer of any of the commercial bodies of Indiana. The chamber is greatly aided in its work by the present Mayor, Hon. Robert W. Morris, and by the members of the Board of Public Works, all being untiring in their efforts for the moral and civic benefit of the city. The two daily newspapers, The Ledger and The Tribune, as well as The Public Press, an influential weekly, greatly aid in the work for the betterment of the city. Altogether the inhabitants of New Albany have good reason to feel proud of their city and to look forward to a season of prosperity and happiness not heretofore dreamed of.

JEFFERSONVILLE, founded in 1808, is rapidly coming into its own in the year 1917. The returns of our canvassers, carefully made, show a population of 15,735, including Port Fulton, Howard Park, Claysburg and Ohio Falls, which are virtually part of the city. This is an increase of 137 in population over 1915. The tax duplicate for 1917 shows valuations for taxable purposes as follows: Personals, $1,536,095; real estate, $2,615,380; total, $4,151,475. Tax rate, $1.60.

Since the publication of the last volume of this Directory the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has decided to build and is still building large terminals here. Large shops may also be built, but this has not yet been fully disclosed. In any event the company will give employment to many more men. The Federal Government, too, has decided to greatly increase the capacity and distributing importance of the U. S. Quartermaster's Depot, giving employment to many additional men and women. The City of Jeffersonville spent large sums of money years ago in helping to build the afore-mentioned railroad, and the city also donated the land upon which the Quartermaster's Depot is located. This is why it may be truly said that Jeffersonville is coming into its own. It is getting back some of the money spent years ago.

Other industries in Jeffersonville are flourishing. The great Howard's Shipyards Company has been made a $4,000,000 corporation, and soon will be building steel bottoms. The Ohio Falls Car and Manufacturing Company employees have been working overtime and the pay-rolls are increasing from month to month. The smaller industries of Jeffersonville are doing well.

The Jeffersonville Chamber of Commerce is very active in promoting the city's best interests, both morally and in a material way. In this effort it is aided by the two daily newspapers, The News and The Star. Altogether, the residents of Jeffersonville have reason to feel well pleased with the situation and that the old town, named in honor of, and laid out on plans made by one of our greatest Presidents, will soon come into its own, that is, to be the greatest city on the left bank of the Ohio above the Falls.

No charge is made for the opening accounts or withdrawing money.

Postmasters may accept deposits in any number of dollars, and at any time until the balance to the credit of a depositor amounts to $1,000, exclusive of accumulated interest.

Twice each year, in January and July, deposits may be exchanged for U. S. Bonds. Persons who have accumulated $500 and exchanged any or all of it for bonds, may then deposit more in the bank.

Interest is paid once a year on deposits at the rate of 2 per cent. Interest is paid on the bonds at the rate of 2½ per cent.

The Post Office Department at Washington will buy the bonds back at par, when holders desire.

The bonds are issued in the following denominations: $20, $100, and $500. They are redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from date of issue and are payable twenty years from such date, in gold.

Application for exchange of deposits into bonds must be made at least 30 days before January 1 and July 1, each year.

In case of the death of a depositor, the amount to his credit will be paid to his administrator, or, if no formal administration is desired by his relatives, it will be paid to the persons entitled to it without the appointment of an administrator.

Great care is used in opening an account, to enable the depositor to establish his identity afterwards, to the end that he may readily withdraw his money and that in case of loss of his certificates, no other person can collect them.

For further information call at the postoffice or a station for free leaflets giving full information about deposits and bonds.
